

VOICE OF SIREN FAILS TO CATCH CITY DETECTIVE

"Let's Go Away Together," She Said, But He Was Too Wise.

Two of Her Alleged Victims Appear and Add to Gayety of Nations.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 19.—"It would be funny if we were to run away together, wouldn't it?" With these words, accompanied by one of the smiles that has led several men from the narrow path and caused them to part with a large share of their worldly goods, in order that she might have plenty of those "dinners with trimmings," Mrs. "Bonnie" Tucker, wife of W. A. Tucker, a prominent Ohio politician, tried to lure H. R. Roberts from the hard life of a city detective.

"Yes, that would be rather unusual," he replied.

Voice of the Siren.

"Come on, let's go away together. You name the spot, and I will go along with you, even to the end of the world," she urged. "You have treated me awfully nice, and I think more of you than you think I do."

Roberts declined the invitation to flee. At that time Mrs. Tucker thought Frank Ballard, the hotel proprietor of Mexico City, who followed her here, had deserted her.

Mrs. Tucker has been held here under charge of smuggling on a dispatch from the Laredo, Texas, customs officials. Word having been received from those officials that they had wired for her arrest at that time, she was released yesterday.

Two of Her Alleged Victims.

John E. Owens, formerly an Ohio politician, who eloped from Cincinnati with "Bonnie" and spent, so he says, $15,000 showing her the sights in Mexico City, followed her to this city and was immediately placed under arrest for refusing to give bond to keep the peace.

F. M. Ballard, who also followed the woman here from Mexico City, appeared on the scene shortly after Detective Roberts had captured the affections of Mrs. Tucker, and "Bonnie" was all smiles once more. Ballard left yesterday for California, and says he will soon return to Mexico City and marry Senatorita Guillon, daughter of the governor of Guerrero.

Mrs. Tucker left for St. Louis.

FINNISH LEADER ESCAPES IN BOAT

NEW YORK, June 20.—After a perilous voyage across the Baltic sea in a fishing smack and being outlawed from his native land by a price on his head, Capt. Johann Kock, of Finland, is in the city. For sixteen years he was an officer in one of the Finnish Tirailleur regiments of the regular Russian service, but now he is one of the revolutionary leaders.

It was Captain Kock who organized the general strike, and when it was successful he was invited to be the head of the Finnish Red Guards. This was a secret military organization for revolutionary purposes. It numbered 25,000 and its companies met in quiet places on Sunday to drill.

REMOVES HER EYE TO PROVE STORY

NEW YORK, June 20.—"What I want is the law on my sister-in-law," said Mrs. Sarah Kores, of 21 Rock street, in the Manhattan avenue police court, Williamsburg, when she appeared against Mrs. Berth Waschaw, of 13 Rock street.

"Why?" asked Magistrate O'Reilly. "Because she hit me on the right eye."

"I don't see any marks," commented the magistrate.

Mrs. Kores replied that she had evidence in plenty, and with a quick movement extracted the eye from the socket. "Just look at that, your honor; it's cracked."

Mrs. Kores showed the magistrate a glass eye, very much the worse for wear. It was cracked.

"Examination set down for Friday; charge, assault," said the magistrate, as he paroled Mrs. Waschaw.

Indian Wife Sues For Maintenance In District Court

MRS. ROSA LA FLESCHÉ,
Chippewa Woman Who Says She Is Deserted by Her Omaha Husband.

FIRST CASE OF SORT IN WASHINGTON

For the first time the courts of the District of Columbia will have to deal with a suit for maintenance instituted by a full-blooded Indian woman against her husband, also an Indian.

Mrs. Rosa La Flesche, who, as published in The Times, filed suit on Monday against her husband, Francis La Flesche, a clerk in the Indian Bureau here, was married a little more than a year ago. Mrs. La Flesche is a Chippewa, while her husband is of the Omaha tribe, of which his father was chief and of which he might have been head had he cared to give up his associations in the East and live among his people.

Mr. La Flesche is a writer of some distinction, a graduate of the National University Law School of this city, and

CHILD IS MISSING, STOLEN OR SLAIN

Little Mary Newlin's Disappearance Investigated by District Attorney.

Prosecutor Hints at Sensational Disclosures in the Case.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., June 20.—Despite the fact that a continuous search has been made for little five-year-old Mary Robbins Newlin, who disappeared from her home Sunday, there has been no trace of the little girl. Today there is a difference of opinion among the neighbors. Some of them think the child was kidnapped, while others believe she has been slain.

District Attorney MacEree is making a rigid investigation into the murder theory. He has taken the testimony of scores of persons. He does not believe that the child was kidnapped, and hints that the case may prove sensational in the extreme.

He refused today to disclose the facts he obtained from his investigation and declined to discuss the murder theory or whom he suspects of committing the crime.

LIGHTED BOMB THROWN IN GREEK LEGISLATURE

ATHENS, June 20.—The members of the chamber of deputies are today still suffering from the shock caused last night, when an unknown man threw a bomb from the gallery while the chamber was in session. Only the fact that the lighted fuse fell off prevented an explosion which would have undoubtedly killed many members. As it was, there was a mad panic among the deputies and all of them made a wild rush for the street.

Order was later restored, however, and the session resumed, but there was considerable nervousness among the deputies.

The thrower of the bomb was arrested. He is believed to be insane.

A member of the Anthropological Society.

No reason is given for the alleged desertion of his wife, who is now living in a boarding house in H street north-west.

Mrs. La Flesche is a well-educated woman. In her suit she has asked the courts to restrain her husband from disposing of his property, either by sale or transfer, and to make known the exact amount and character of the property. The husband receives a salary of $1,400 from the Government and owns considerable property in the West.

Boy Barks at Water, Dies of Hydrophobia

Child Bitten by Dog, But Mother Thought Lip Was Cut, Until Too Late for Treatment.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Barking like a dog, Arthur Heinz, aged three, son of John Heinz, a cabinetmaker of 42 Troutman street, Williamsburg, died in his mother's arms a victim of hydrophobia. Although he had been attacked by a mongrel six weeks ago and his lower lip had been lacerated, his parents were not aware of that fact until yesterday morning, when Dr. George H. Leyh told them the child was suffering from rabies.

An investigation revealed the fact that the little fellow had been playing with some companions of his own age when a yellow dog dashed in among them and buried his teeth in Arthur's lip. The youngster's cries brought his mother to his side.

Thought Lip Was Cut.

His companions had scattered and there was no dog in sight. Picking the little fellow up, Mrs. Heinz took him to a neighboring physician, who sewed up the tear. It was believed that Arthur had struck his lip against the curb, and, bawling washing it carefully every day, no further alarm was felt about it.

This happened early in May. Yesterday morning Arthur was taken with convulsions, and several times started his mother by uttering snarling sounds. She carried him to Dr. Leyh's office and the physician at once diagnosed the case as hydrophobia.

Boy Barks at Water.

Dr. Leyh offered the boy some water and he at once barked himself into a convulsion which lasted until he was given a hypodermic injection. He remained quiet until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he was again seized with violent convulsions and barking spells. He expired before the doctor arrived.

OFFICERS CAPTURE MOONSHINE GANG

Washington Secret Service Men Lead in Attack.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 20.—Reports received here this morning from Smithtown, in Stokes county, N. C., tell of the successful raid made yesterday by twenty-seven revenue officers, led, it is said, by two Secret Service detectives from Washington, on moonshiners of that territory.

The section has been noted for half a century for its number of moonshine stills, and the boldness and pugnacity of the moonshiners.

As the result of the day's work, thirteen blockade stills were broken up and ten moonshiners taken captive.

A supply of arms was received from Washington, and early in the morning the raiding squad was organized at Mt. Airy, N. C., and marched to Smithtown. Stills and moonshiners were carried back to Mt. Airy, thirty miles from the scene of the raiding. It is reported that several officers and moonshiners were wounded in the raid, but this report has not been confirmed. The work of the raiders kept them busy until late in the evening.

SHOOTS AT WIFE, HITS BYSTANDER

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 20.—Thomas W. Condon, a machinist, deceived his wife to the fashionable residence section of Prospect street by sending her a false telegram message, and tried to kill her with a revolver. The wife recently had her husband sent to jail for beating her. He was released a few days ago.

Mrs. Condon had found the decoy message false and was leaving the house of Miss Julia Tunney when Condon came upon her. One shot went wide and she ran. Another bullet hit the fleeing woman in the waist, but only plowed a furrow in her belt.

A truckman jumped from his wagon and tried to stop Condon, who shot twice more and then tried to turn the weapon on himself. The other man fled, but he was hit after a bullet had hit Giuseppe Zullo in the leg.

WINS 48-YEAR-OLD PRIZE BY SOLVING LIGHT PROBLEM

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 20.—The Boyden prize of $1,000, that has been standing for forty-eight years to be awarded to any resident of North America who should determine by experiment whether all rays of light and other physical rays are or are not transmitted with the same velocity has been won by Dr. Paul R. Heyl, assistant in the department of chemistry of the Philadelphia Central High School. Dr. Heyl succeeded in demonstrating by experiment that the ultraviolet rays of light, for which glass is transparent, have the same velocity as the light rays proper.

U. S. DISPENSATORY

Describes the Principal Ingredients Contained in Per-na.

Are we claiming too much for Per-na when we claim it to be an effective remedy for chronic catarrh? Have we abundant proof that Per-na is in reality such a catarrh remedy? Let us see what the United States Dispensatory says of the principal ingredients of Per-na.

Take, for instance, the ingredient hydrastis canadensis, or golden seal. The United States Dispensatory says of this herbal remedy, that it is largely employed in the treatment of depraved mucous membranes, chronic rhinitis (nasal catarrh), atonic dyspepsia (catarrh of the stomach), chronic intestinal catarrh, catarrhal jaundice (catarrh of the liver), and in diseased mucous membranes of the pelvic organs. It is also recommended for the treatment of various forms of diseases peculiar to women.

Another ingredient of Per-na, corydalis formosa, is classed in the United States Dispensatory as a tonic. So also is cubeba classed as a stomachic and as a tonic for the mucous membranes.

Cedron seeds is another ingredient of Per-na, an excellent drug that has been very largely overlooked by the medical profession for the past fifty years. The seeds are to be found in very few drug stores. The United States Dispensatory says of the action of cedron that it is used as a bitter tonic and in the treatment of dysentery, and in intermittent diseases as a substitute for quinine.

Oil of copaiba, another ingredient of Per-na, is classed by the United States Dispensatory as a mild stimulant and diuretic. It acts on the stomach and intestinal tract. It acts as a stimulant on the genito-urinary membranes. Useful in chronic cystitis, chronic dysentery and diarrhea, and some chronic diseases of the liver and kidneys.

Send to us for a free book of testimonials of what the people think of Per-na as a catarrh remedy. The best evidence is the testimony of those who have tried it.

Prefer the same beer—that is true.

They are guided by taste; and tastes differ, as beers do.

But taste can be cultivated. And absolute purity is much more important.

Judged by likes, the few best beers may not differ enough to matter.

Judged by purity, there is a vast difference in beers. And purity means healthfulness, cleanliness, freedom from germs. It means a beer that cannot cause biliousness.
